1. These are applications made for return of cloth which has been seized. It is noticed that in the main application the notice has been issued and made returnable on 6.7.2005. As regards the actual custody, the matter will have to be heard as scheduled and no custody can be granted at this stage.

2. These applications are therefore, dismissed. Mr.Govilkar for the applicants in these applications stated that the clothe should be preserved by a drying process by police. He states that his client is willing to do the drying process and hand over the cloth to the police. This prayer is not specifically mentioned in the applications. It is however, opposed by the respondents. Investigating officer A.V.Thakur states that drying process of the cloth has already been done. This statement of the Investigating officer is recorded. In this view of the matter, no such direction can be given.

3. All 3 applications are disposed of.
